The creative writing minor consists of a total of two units of course work (6/3) distributed in the following way:

1. 3/3: At least three courses (one unit) in creative writing (fiction, creative nonfiction, poetry, playwriting, or screenwriting) including at least one course at the 3000 level. (Note: courses with the same number, such as EN2219 and EN3219, can be repeated in different genres.)

   Toward the one unit of work in creative writing, in consultation with a minor advisor, students might include one course from a related discipline like IMGD or Professional Writing.

2. 2/3: Two literature courses (usually EN), at least one of which must be at the 2000 level or higher.

3. 1/3: One capstone experience, either a 1/3 unit independent study in creative writing developed in consultation with the minor advisor or a 3000 level course approved by the student and advisor. The capstone course must be taken last, but it can be taken concurrently with another course toward the minor.

WPI policy requires that no more than one unit of course work can be double counted toward other degree requirements. Thus, students may count three courses taken to fulfill the Humanities and Arts Requirement for the minor as well, as long as one unit of the minor does not double-count. In other words, students must take three courses for this minor that do not count for another degree requirement. See undergraduate catalog (2021-2022 and later) for detailed requirements.
