

URBAN POWER

BOOK TALK & DISCUSSION WITH BENJAMIN BRADLOW

November 13, 2024 | 4-6 PM ET

Initiative on Cities, 75 Bay State Road

BENJAMIN H. BRADLOW, Assistant Professor of Sociology and International Affairs at Princeton University, will join us for a discussion on his new book that explores why some cities are more effective than others at reducing inequalities in the built environment. Bradlow examines the effectiveness of urban governance in two “megacities” in young democracies: São Paulo, Brazil, and Johannesburg, South Africa.

MIMI SELLER (Worcester Polytechnic Institute) and MARCUS WALTON (Boston University) will be discussants.
