Our symbol of theory and practice

The WPI logo is our unifying symbol of theory and practice. This guide provides specific guidelines and standards. Indeed the WPI community influenced this evolution of the university mark, which was adapted to increase the level of flexibility in its use and placement while maintaining a sense of prestige and heritage.

Designed in 1887 by Alonzo S. Kimball, the popular head of physics and engineering, the WPI seal includes elements that reflect the university's founding principles and the ongoing promise of a WPI education: two open books, representing theory; the arm and a hammer from the Washburn Shops weather vane, representing practice; the WPI motto, Lehr and Kunst, German for learning and skilled arts, on the banner; and the heart, representing Worcester's location in the heart of the Commonwealth. A simplified version of the seal has been integrated with the WPI initials to create the university logo.

Official colors

WPI’s official colors are Crimson (PMS 187c) and Gray (PMS 429c). Black is considered an accent color.

Color specifications should never be altered.

NOTE: Due to the inconsistent nature of computer monitors and office printers, the colors depicted within this guide may not match the actual PANTONE® colors when viewed on screen or printed on your office printer.

For accurate color reproduction for:

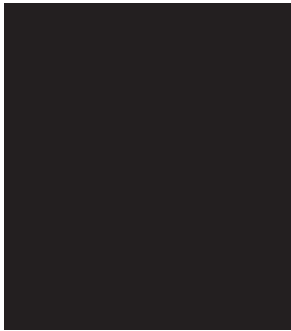

Printed materials, use the PANTONE® or CMYK 4-color process numbers. NOTE: For two-color printing Pantone 429c (gray) may be reproduced as a 30% tint of black. (To avoid a color shift, this is recommended only for items that are printed on pure white stock.)

Full color (4-color process) and 2-color (spot color) versions of all logo and word mark files are available.

Web, use sRGB and HTML numbers.

Embroidery thread, use MADEIRA® numbers.

PANTONE® is a registered trademark of PANTONE Inc.
MADEIRA® is a registered trademark of MADEIRA USA LTD.

Licensing the WPI brand

In June 2012, WPI began licensing vendors wishing to produce materials bearing the WPI logo, word mark, and seal. We began with the bookstore, and as of the start of A-term 2012, all new merchandise coming into the store carries the official treatment of the WPI logo as defined in this guide. All vendors producing merchandise for sale through the bookstore have signed a licensing agreement with the agency that represents WPI.

As we move forward with our logo rollout and our commitment to preserve, protect, and promote our brand, WPI will begin licensing additional non-bookstore vendors during the fall and winter of 2012 with all vendors signing a licensing agreement by January 1, 2013. This impacts any vendor that reproduces the WPI logo, name, or seal for any reason. Licensing workshops will be held during B-Term for WPI employees to clarify and explain the process.

A list of WPI licensees is available by visiting <http://lrgusa.com/licensing/vendor-list/>. Type "Worcester Polytechnic Institute" in the search bar at the top of the page.

1. Institutional Logos

1.1 Institutional logo—primary

Proper use of the WPI primary institutional logo:

Full color reproduction is preferred. See ① and ②. When full color logos are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the WPI type reverses to white, as seen in illustration ②.

For two-color printing, use the files with "2Clr" in the file name.

One color logos may only appear in Pantone 187c (crimson), as in ③a, Pantone 429c (gray), as in ③b, 100% black, as in ③c, or a 30% tint of black (to be used only on pure white stock), as in ③d.

When one color logos are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the logo reverses to white as in ④.

For detailed color information see page 5.

Preferred positioning:

Use this logo when left- or right-handed position is required.

See page 9 for recommended use for centered positioning.

1.2 Institutional logo—secondary

Proper use of the WPI secondary institutional logo:

Full color reproduction is preferred. See ① and ②. When full color logos are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the WPI type reverses to white, as seen in illustration ②.

For two-color printing, use the files with "2Clr" in the file name.

One color logos may only appear in Pantone 187c (crimson), as in ③a, Pantone 429c (gray), as in ③b, 100% black, as in ③c, or a 30% tint of black (to be used only on pure white stock), as in ③d. When one color logos are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the logo reverses to white, as in ④.

For detailed color information see page 5.

Preferred positioning: Use this logo for applications where a centered positioning is required, or where its square proportions are appropriate.

1.3 Institutional logo—tertiary

Proper use of the WPI tertiary institutional logo:

Full color reproduction is preferred. See ① and ②. When full color logos are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the “Worcester Polytechnic Institute” type reverses to white, as in illustration ②.

For two-color printing, use the files with “2Clr” in the file name.

One color logos may only appear in Pantone 187c (crimson), as in ③a, Pantone 429c (gray), as in ③b, 100% black, as in ③c, or a 30% tint of black (to be used only on pure white stock), as in ③d. When one color logos are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the logo reverses to white, as in ④.

For detailed color information see page 5.

Use this logo only for applications where wide proportions are appropriate, e.g. signage, across the width of a poster, or where it can be used at a size large enough for the seal to meet the minimum size requirement of 1/2”.

1.4 Institutional word marks—serif

WPI word marks, like the logo itself, are carefully designed to function as artwork. Use art files made available. Do not recreate or alter.

Proper use of the WPI institutional word mark-serif:

When used on white or light backgrounds, word marks may appear only in Pantone 187c (crimson) or 100% black, as seen in illustration ①. Marks in Pantone 429c (gray) or a 30% tint of black (WPI_WM_Minion_30BLK), as in ② are restricted to use on pure white backgrounds only.

When a word mark is used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the mark reverses to white, as in ③.

For detailed color information see page 5.

Suggested use: Use this version of the word mark in applications requiring a formal, authoritative, or traditional approach, for example, presentations to peers or partners, university collateral, and alumni communications.

NOTE: A small caps serif word mark is used only on university and presidential stationery, business cards, and select materials managed by the Division of Marketing and Communications.

1.5 Institutional word marks—sans serif

WPI word marks, like the logo itself, are carefully designed to function as artwork. Use art files made available. Do not recreate or alter.

Proper use of the WPI word marks-sans serif:

When used on white or light backgrounds, word marks may appear only in Pantone 187c (crimson) or 100% black, as seen in illustration ①.

Marks in Pantone 429c (gray) or a 30% tint of black, as seen in ②, are restricted to use on pure white backgrounds only.

When a word mark is used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the mark reverses to white, as in ③.

For detailed color information see page 5.

Suggested use: Both sans serif versions depict a more informal, friendly, and open look and feel. In particular, the all uppercase sans serif word mark functions well where an innovative, cutting-edge look is appropriate.

1.6 Institutional logos—area of isolation

The free space surrounding the logo (area of isolation) prevents it from visually competing with type or images that surround it. This area (indicated by the broken gray line) should always be void of type or other design elements.

X is always equal to the height of the "W" in WPI regardless of the size of the logo.

1.7 Institutional logos—minimum size

The height of the seal component of all institutional logos should never be smaller than 1/2".

To encourage consistent use, sizing the logo so that the seal component measures 3/4" in height is preferred sizing for front or back covers of most university publications.

1.8 Institutional logos—common misuse

To maintain the strength and integrity of the WPI logos they must never be altered in any way. While these “never do” examples are all shown using the primary logo, the rules apply to all logo versions.

Never distort the logo

Never alter proportions of the components

Never alter color placement

Never box the logo

Never alter the color

Never add typography or word mark

Never alter placement of the components

Never alter the typography

Never rotate the logo

Never use the logo as part of a sentence

Never outline any part of the logo

Never add a drop shadow or other special effects

1.9 Official fonts—institutional

Two fonts have been chosen as official WPI typography. Each OpenType font is a highly readable, clean, cross-platform, and Microsoft compatible. Minion Pro is reminiscent of the Renaissance period of “elegant, beautiful and highly readable type designs.” Likewise, Myriad Pro offers clean open shapes and precise letter fit for legibility without compromising creativity.

1.10 Official fonts—headlines and body copy

The primary font choice for headlines is Minion Pro Semibold (always in upper and lowercase). The primary font for body copy is Myriad Pro Regular*. In applications where sub-headlines are required the preferred font is Minion Pro Italic. In applications where an informal headline font is preferred, Myriad Pro Semibold may be used in title case or all caps.

For information regarding font families associated with the WPI brand identity, see page 16.

2. Applying the Institutional Logo

Letterhead and envelopes are available customized for departments and administrative divisions and may be ordered through the WPI Print Shop. Contact Chad Farrell at cfarrell@wpi.edu.

To assist you with proper letter formatting and placement, a Microsoft Word template is available on the Marketing and Communications website.

19.

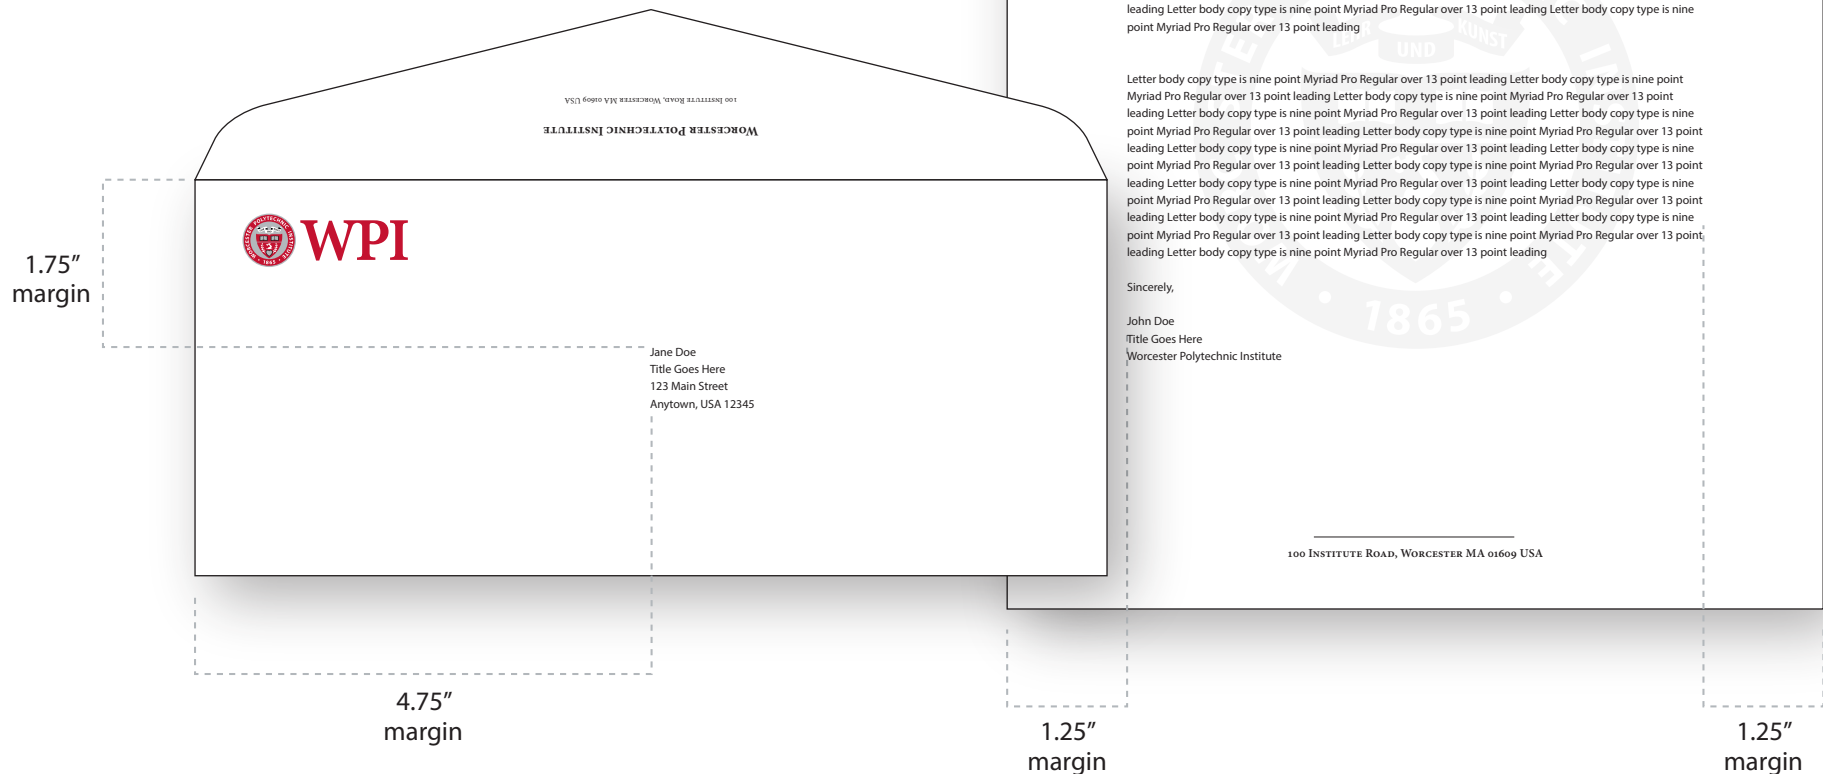

2.2 Stationery—without customization

WPI stationery is also available to all departments and can be ordered through the WPI print shop. Contact Chad Farrell at cfarrell@wpi.edu.

Proper letter and address placement for letterhead and envelopes are detailed here. The preferred font for letters and envelopes is 9pt Myriad Pro Regular* with 13pt leading.

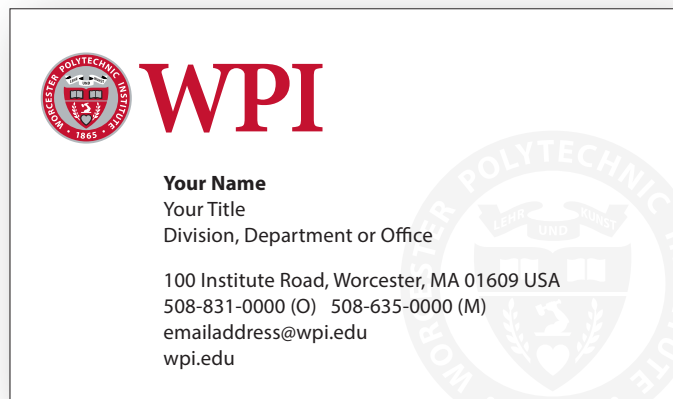

To assist you with proper letter formatting and placement, a Microsoft Word template is available on the Marketing and Communications website.

*In Microsoft Word templates, may be substituted with Verdana Regular

2.3 Business cards

All WPI business cards follow the format below. Business cards will be available through the WPI Print Shop. To place an order, contact Chad Farrell at cfarrell@wpi.edu.

2.4 Staff Collared or T-Shirts

WPI is aiming to centralize shirt orders to ensure quality, consistency, and reduction in cost. Contact your Marketing Program Manager for assistance.

2.5 Standard Name Tags

WPI is aiming to centralize name tag orders to ensure quality, consistency, and reduction in cost. Contact your Marketing Program Manager for assistance.

2.6 Event banners and table covers

WPI standard event banners (144" x 72" and 72" x 36") and table covers (36" x 48" and 54" x 48") are available for use through the Division of Marketing and Communications.

Reserve them a minimum 1 week prior to your event by contacting Dianne Vanacore at dvanacore@wpi.edu.

Orders for customized table covers (available only as shown below) must be paid for by the department by which they are ordered.

Place your order a minimum of 3 weeks prior to your event by contacting Dianne Vanacore at dvanacore@wpi.edu.

3. Limited or Restricted Use

3.1 University sub-brands

When a case is made that a sub-brand or extension of the WPI logo serves a strategic purpose and is aligned with university goals, the Division of Marketing and Communications will create the required logo artwork, prepare the files, and make them available.

Individual units should not—and do not need to—create their own logo artwork. For contact information see page 37.

3.2 University Seal—Stand alone

Use of the stand-alone university seal is restricted to use approved by the Division of Marketing and Communications. All other use is strictly prohibited.

Proper use of the WPI stand alone seal:

Full color reproduction is preferred. See illustrations ① and ②.

For two-color printing, use the files with "2Clr" in the file name.

One color seals may only appear in Pantone 187c (crimson) or 100% black, as in ③. Use of Pantone 429c (gray) or a 30% tint of black are restricted to use only on pure white paper and backgrounds.

When one color seals are used on dark or patterned backgrounds, the seal reverses to white ④.

3.2a University seal—area of isolation

The free space surrounding the seal (area of isolation) prevents it from visually competing with type or images that surround it. This area (indicated by the broken gray line) should always be void of type or other design elements.

X is always equal to the height of the shield regardless of the size of the seal.

3.2b University seal—used as a watermark

Use of the stand-alone university seal as a simulated watermark is restricted to use by the Division of Marketing and Communications. All other usage is strictly prohibited. Use of the seal as a watermark is restricted to commercially printed applications where color shifting can be carefully controlled. It must not be used for items that are printed on office printers.

A university seal watermark is used in WPI PowerPoint templates. These templates must be used as provided and never altered.

To prevent the white seal from appearing pink when placed the over a background of Pantone 187c, a maximum 10% opacity of the white is recommended but should be carefully monitored and adjusted. When placed over other dark or patterned backgrounds the opacity of the white watermark seal or underlying images must be carefully adjusted for optimal clarity of the seal.

Proper Cropping and Positioning: The “W” in “Worcester” and the final “C” in “Polytechnic” must always be visible.

The gray watermark must never be placed over any colored or patterned backgrounds. Use of the seal as a gray watermark is restricted to use only on pure white paper and backgrounds.

3.2c University seal—common misuse

Never distort the seal

Never alter color placement

Never alter the color

Never crop the full-color seal

Never rotate the seal

Never add or remove graphic components

Never change the words within the seal

Never change the shield

Never use individual components of the seal as stand alone design elements

3.3 Stand alone WPI

Use of the stand-alone WPI is restricted to use on apparel or other uses as approved by the Division of Marketing and Communications. No other type or imagery may be used in combination with the stand alone WPI.

The power of consistency

Enhancing and protecting the WPI brand elements—logos, word marks, the visual identity (the quality, look, and feel of branded materials and products), verbal and visual messaging, and the quality of the WPI experience—requires high standards, consistently applied over time.

This guide focuses on the logos and word marks, colors, and some templates for basic communications—presentations, flyers, e-newsletters—as well as business cards, letterhead systems, and approved ways to apply the logo on such items as banners, name tags, and an electronic signature.

As such, this guide lays the foundation on which we will work together to build a strong and recognized university brand. The power of consistency to build the WPI brand is all of ours.

Our challenge is to unify our university symbols and consistently apply them to support increased recognition.

Designed for flexibility, managed for building equity

A strategic university initiative may call for visuals and/or an identity system, as the example shown here, that effectively distinguish the program while using standard WPI brand elements. The Division of Marketing and Communications can advise and will support as appropriate.
